

A young boy in a red and black baseball uniform is crouching on a dirt field. He is wearing a black helmet with a white 'E' logo. He is holding a black baseball glove in his left hand and a baseball in his right hand, holding it to his ear as if listening. In the background, another player in a light blue uniform is partially visible. The scene is outdoors on a sunny day.

I need your trust to reach my full potential!

Help me develop physical literacy and I will be

ACTIVE FOR LIFE®

Élie's story

Motivation, confidence, acquisition of motor skills and desire to move must be fostered and supported from an early age in children so that they develop throughout their lives.

Any disability should not be an obstacle to leading a full and decent life, in conditions that promote autonomy and facilitate the optimal development of one's physical potential.

Learn more about physical literacy, the right to play and child development by visiting ActiveforLife.com and rcpem.com

Learn more about Élie Hamel, a 7 year old boy who has just completed his first baseball season at the B Atom level and is a carrier of transverse myelitis and cerebral ataxia.

ACTIVE FOR LIFE®